Call for Applications

ZiF Junior Fellowships 2018/19

Are you interested in interdisciplinary exchange?
Would you like to join an international research group?
Does your field of research match our topic?
Then apply for a ZiF Junior Fellowship!

The Center for interdisciplinary Research (ZiF) is Bielefeld University’s Institute for Advanced Study. Renowned scholars and scientists use it as a home base to work together on innovative interdisciplinary research projects for one academic year.

What

ZiF announces two Junior Fellowships for its Research Group ‘Felix Culpa?’ Guilt as a culturally productive force (1 October 2018 – 31 July 2019). This Research Group addresses the question in how far guilt and practices of guilt denial, redemption, guilt and redemption acquittal can be understood as a productive force in interpersonal and collective processes. The group assembles, among others, scholars of literature, religion and law, anthropologists, philosophers, historians and psychologists. Please look here for more information.

The Junior Fellows will be an active part of the Research Group. They take part in its meetings and workshops and can bring in their own research.

The fellowships do not imply financial compensation. They provide insight into international research cooperation in practice, an opportunity to expand your own network and the stimulating experience of animated interdisciplinary exchange in a top-class Research Group.

Who

Doctoral students, postdocs and – in well-founded cases – advanced Master students of Bielefeld University are invited to apply, provided that their own research interests are noticeably close to the topic of the Research Group and that they are ready to participate regularly and actively in its weekly meetings and workshops.

How

Please submit your application including a CV and a letter of motivation (in one PDF, via email) by 31 May 2018 to ZiF’s Executive Director Prof. Dr Véronique Zanetti:

zif-applications@uni-bielefeld.de

The selection process will involve ZiF’s Board of Directors as well as the convenors of the respective Research Group.