

Internationale Ringvorlesung

Childhood Inequalities across Global Contexts

Mittwochs / Wednesdays

Wintersemester 2024/2025

4.00 – 6.00 pm (c.t.)

Raum / Room: Y1-201 (Y-Building)

Die Vorträge werden auf Englisch stattfinden.

23.10.2024

Learning to Navigate Social Space. The Early Development of Children's Perception and Judgment of Class Inequality

Dr Dieter Vandebroek, Professor, Vrije Universiteit Brussel (BEL)

13.11.2024

From Fear of Falling to Controlled Descent? How Upper-Middle Class Parents Manage Downward Mobility Risks

Dr Janice Aurini, Associate Professor, University of Waterloo (CAN)

20.11.2024

The Chinese "Parachute Generation": Family Strategies and the "New" Transnational Class

Dr Siqi Tu, Research Fellow, Max Planck Institute for Social Anthropology, Halle (Saale) (GER)

04.12.2024

Partners in Privilege: Parents and their Children Crafting Transnational Futures

Dr Adrienne Lee Atterberry, VAP, University of Massachusetts Lowell (USA)

15.01.2025

C'est pô juste! [It's sooo unfair!]: The Socially Differentiated Perceptions of (In)justice in Children Aged 5.5 to 10.5 Years. First Results from the ELFE Longitudinal Survey

Dr Kevin Diter, Maître de Conférence, Université de Lille (FRA)

The lecture series explores how societal inequalities, such as social class differences, shape contemporary childhoods, children's lives, and perspectives across various cultural and national contexts. The guest lecturers have diverse epistemic, theoretical, and research backgrounds in the social and educational sciences. Topics discussed throughout the semester include the experiences of children growing up in diverse places, children's representations of class status and their future, and experiences of educational migration. The international lecture series organized by the Centre for Childhood and Youth Studies (Bielefeld University) is aimed at students and faculty from all disciplines and anyone interested in the topic.