The colloquium takes place on the Tuesdays listed in the usual time slot of 16-18 h via the video-conferencing program “Zoom.” If you are interested in participating, please send a mail to this effect until the preceding Monday morning to eike.inga.schilling@uni-bielefeld.de. You may also say that you want to attend all lectures. You will receive an access code and a link. If zoom is not already installed on your computer, it will do so automatically when you request access. Zoom is an interactive format so that you will be able to ask questions.

No credit points can be issued this semester.

You are all warmly invited to take part and to fill this new format with life. We would be delighted to see you in this framework.

28.4. Johanna Wagner, Künstliche Intelligenzen als Verantwortungsträger: Warum es nicht ausreicht so zu tun als ob

5.5. Peter Weingart, The many sources of the 'public engagement of science' – rhetoric

19.5. Stefanie Haupt, Überlegungen zu den Merkmalen einer völkischen Wissenschaft am Beispiel der 'Ortungsforschung und Germanischen Himmelskunde'

9.6. Minea Gartzlaff & Basel Myhub, First empirical insights into research heuristics in the context of practice

14.7. Alexander Schniedermann (DZHW Berlin), Function, reception and performativity of review literature in science, in the context of the bibliometrics-driven incentive structure