Student Assistant Position (WHF) at the Institute for World Society Studies (IW)

A student assistant position (BA/FH) as a research student at the Institute for World Society Studies with up to 9 hours per week for up to 12 months is to be filled as soon as possible.

Your Tasks:

- Conduct research in a self-selected area of globalization and world society research (from which an own research project, e.g. a master's thesis, can also be developed).
- Acquire and archive literature for the preparation of scientific papers and publications.
- Participate regularly and actively in the core events of the IW.

In addition to the position as a student assistant, the Institute for World Society Studies offers integration into the Institute and a workspace in the Institute's office.

Your Profile:

- Good German and English language skills.
- Ability and willingness to work independently and in a structured manner.
- Interest in and knowledge of world society studies.

Please note that applicants cannot be hired if they are currently writing their master's thesis or state examination, are already employed as a research assistant, or have already concluded a work contract for the aforementioned period.

If you have any questions, please get in touch with the Managing Director Laura Späth (iw@uni-bielefeld.de, +49 (0)521 106 3360).

Please send your application (letter of motivation, CV, brief outline of your study program, and 4-page exposé of your research project) in one PDF file to iw@uni-bielefeld.de by May 6, 2025, at the latest.
