

Fourth PROMEBI-ESPANET Summer School

SOCIAL RESEARCH ON EMPLOYMENT AND WELFARE INTERACTIONS Exploring and Interpreting Occupational Welfare

Department of Sociology, University of Oviedo
September 10-13, 2019

In recent years there has been a substantial increase in both quantity and quality of research analyzing tensions between work and welfare, with the aim of identifying trends, institutional arrangements and policies of both spheres that best interact among each other. At a European scale, the objective of improving theoretical, empirical and applied knowledge constitutes a substantial piece of the renovation of the European integration project itself.

The goal of the Fourth PROMEBI-ESPANET Summer School is to make participants familiar with recent and high quality research developments in the field of employment and welfare interactions. While students' contributions related to this broad thematic field are welcome, lectures and debates will focus on Occupational Welfare.

The School will allow a maximum of 15 M.A. students, Pre-Docs and early career researchers to present their work and receive constructive comments from experienced researchers. The School offers an enjoyable program of interactive guest lectures by renowned international scholars, with prior reading assignments. The participants will be also required to present and discuss their research project (e.g. postgraduate research proposal, in-progress or finished paper). Papers should address relationships between employment and welfare. There is no prior specification for the type of issue studied. There is also no restriction on the methodologies used to address the empirical questions.

The School is organized by the research team PROMEBI (Promoting Employment and Welfare in Europe) at the University of Oviedo, in collaboration with ESPANET-EUROPE. The European Network for Social Policy Analysis.

Profs. Ana M. Guillen and Rodolfo Gutiérrez Palacios are the academic directors. Sergio González Begega and Vanesa Rodríguez Álvarez are the academic secretaries.

The working language of the School will be English.

The final program of the School will be available by April 30 here:
